Gun thief enters guilty plea in federal court

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

A Cynthiana man first indicted in federal court on a theft charge has entered a guilty plea.

Jonathan Wayne Moore was indicted in July in Lexington on a charge of being a convicted felon in possession of a firearm.

Last week, Moore entered a guilty plea to the charge and was recommended to serve a 15-year sentence, according to Cpl. Walter Tapp who first charged Moore.

Moore was arrested on May 21, just minutes after he entered Cynthiana Jewelry and Pawn Shop on Church Street and fled the store with a .38 pistol.

Witnesses reported seeing Moore inside the store looking around and then running away.

When confronted, Moore tossed the gun and ran away.

The gun was recovered across the street on the Donald Northcutt property and Moore was picked up on Walnut Street near Bridge Street BP.

Teen killed in Saturday wreck

Driver condition remains serious at UK Hospital

By BEN HYATT, News Writer

One Cynthiana teen is in serious condition following a fatal crash that killed her cousin on US 62 East Saturday, Dec. 8.

The Christmas holiday will serve as a reminder of tragedy for one Cynthiana family following the fatal crash on US 62, which claimed the life of Cynthia Neace, 18.

Neace was the passenger of a 1988 Ford Escort, which was being driven by Kristina Noble, 18, on US 62 around 6:15 p.m. right before the wreck.

According to the Harrison County Sheriff's report, Noble was traveling east on US 62 when she lost control of her vehicle causing it to hit a tree before flipping onto its side and striking another tree.

According to deputies, the wreck was witnessed by another driver, which may be the only reason the accident was reported the same day.

"If no one had seen the wreck happen, there very well might have been a missing per-

Cynthia Neace

Kristina Noble

sons case open," said Harrison County detective Paul Olin.

"Due to the location in which the vehicle came to a final rest, it would have been very hard to see it from the road at night."

Both Noble and Neace were transported to Harrison Memorial Hospital where they were then taken to UK Hospital with life-threatening injuries.

According to deputies, Neace was pronounced dead by Fayette County Coroner's office at 11:51 a.m., Monday, Dec. 10, due to trauma sustained in the wreck.

No alcohol or drugs are suspected as being factors in the wreck, however, speed is being listed as the primary cause of the accident.

As of Tuesday, Noble was listed in serious condition following multiple surgeries at UK Hospital.

Visitation for Neace will be held at Ware Funeral Home on Thursday, Dec. 13 from 5 to 8 p.m. Her funeral will be Friday, Dec. 14 at 1 p.m.

40 years and counting

Here to stay, says fifth generation Bullard

By BEN HYATT, News Writer

After 40 years in Cynthiana, fifth-generation Bullard granddaughter says the move to small-town USA has met every need of the still-family-owned business.

Unless one stumbled onto Bullard's website, the mounds of history behind one of Cynthiana's shining stars would never be completely known or understood.

The business saw its first light of day in 1898 San Francisco when Edward Dickinson Bullard began supplying carbide lamps and other mining equipment to gold and copper miners in California, Nevada and Arizona.

Shortly after his son, E.W. Bullard, returned from World War I, he developed the first-ever mass produced head protection, "Hard Boiled," for miners.

"After he returned from World War I he understood that miners faced some of the same dangers that he did while fighting in trenches," explained director of marketing Wells Bullard. "So he designed a protective helmet for miners in 1919 and now, here we are over 90 years later still making head protection."

Bullard explained that the design of the head protection has changed vastly since the first one, however, the purpose for making them has not changed at all.

"We are here to provide safety," explained Bullard. "We take great pride in our products and that is why we continue to be the industry's leader in head protection."

Flu level raised to widespread in Kentucky

FRANKFORT—Kentucky Department for Public Health (DPH) officials reported to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention this week that the flu activity level in the state has increased from regional to widespread. Widespread activity is the highest level of flu activity, which indicates increased flu-like activity or flu outbreaks in at least half of the regions in the state, according to a DPH news release. The activity levels for states are tracked weekly as part of the CDC's national flu surveillance system.

"With current widespread flu activity being reported in Kentucky, now is a good time to protect yourself and your family by putting a flu shot on your holiday list," Stephanie Mayfield, M.D., commissioner of DPH, said in the news release. "As the holidays approach, people will be traveling and families will gather together, increasing the potential for exposure to the flu. We are strongly urging anyone who hasn't received a flu vaccine, particularly those at high risk for complications related to the flu, to check with local health departments or other providers."

The flu season can begin as early as October and last through May, and usually peaks between January and March. The holiday season is still a good time to get vaccinated against the flu because it takes about two weeks for immunity to develop and offer protection against flu. However, vaccination can be given any time during the flu season, and this year there is a plentiful vaccine supply.

The best way to protect against the flu is to receive a flu vaccination. The CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices recommends flu vaccine for all individuals 6 months of age and older. People who are especially encouraged to receive the flu vaccine, because they may be at higher risk for complications or negative consequences, include:

- Children age 6 months to 19 years;
- Pregnant women;
- People 50 years old or older;
- People of any age with chronic health problems;
- People who live in nursing homes and other long-term care facilities;
- Health care workers;
- Caregivers of or people who live with a person at high risk for complications from the flu; and
- Out-of-home caregivers of or people who live with children less than 6 months old.

Kentuckians should receive a new flu vaccination each season for optimal protection. Influenza strains currently circulating most widely in Kentucky appear to be covered by this season's vaccine, according to officials. Healthy, non-pregnant people age 2-49 years can be vaccinated with either the flu shot or the nasal vaccine spray. An intradermal influenza vaccination, which was new last season, uses a smaller needle and can be given to adults 18 through 64 years of age. Children younger than 9 years old who did not receive a flu vaccination during the last flu season should receive a second dose four or more weeks after their first vaccination.

Court not satisfied with report on financials from Brown’s Ambulance

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER
Several Harrison County magistrates proclaimed their displeasure after a review of Brown’s Ambulance financial statement.
Once again attention was focused on Brown’s Ambulance after the Harrison County Fiscal Court got a glimpse of the first financial statement in several months.
In the statement, Brown’s reported a nearly $10,000 loss for the months of July through September.
“Someone needs to explain to me how rent and building maintenance has once again found its way onto their financial statement,” said magistrate Frank Henson. “They own the building so there is no way on earth we should be paying for them to use it.”
Several magistrates, including Jeff Brunner, raised attention to the lack of cooperation from Brown’s Ambulance in providing financial statements to the court as promised.
County Judge-Executive Alex Barnett added that due to a change in financial personnel for Brown’s Ambulance, financial statements may have been misplaced or forgotten.

“They have given us three statements and have done it in different ways each time,” said Brunner. “How are we to compare between each month if they continue to switch the way they present their finances each time?”
Also on the Brown’s statement was a $12,000 fee for a billing service and over $1,100 for office supplies.
“One, they are paying someone to bill Medicare and they show no money collected from Medicare so that is a waste,” said Henson. “Two, that is a ton of paper clips and paper to buy with $1,100 when they are not even billing anyone.”
Henson also asked the court to remember an agreement between the fiscal court and Brown’s Ambulance to build a structure to house the ambulances in the winter months.
“We had a long discussion that if we agreed to support them, they would build something to house the vehicles in the winter,” said Henson. “Has it been built yet?”

Also discussed was the idea of parking all county vehicles, including jailer vehicles, road department, animal shelter and emergency management, while not being used on duty.
The court felt that all vehicles, excluding sheriff’s deputy vehicles, should be parked in order to save on fuel costs and maintenance on vehicles.
“I think we should try this for a while,” said magistrate Missy Lutz. “I feel that some of these vehicles are being driven while not on duty or on call.”
The court agreed to look further into the issue before including all county vehicles and that some stipulations should be included for certain circumstances.
Finally, the court agreed to donate $500 to Adult Education to be used in encouraging adults to acquire their GED.

Students in Judy Clevinger’s fourth grade class at Southside Elementary wound up its animal unit by sharing posters with others students at the school. Posters have also been on display at various places in town.

Bullard

Bullard said during the 1930s, while the Golden Gate Bridge was being constructed in San Francisco, Bullard, under the request of bridge engineers, adapted its hats to protect bridge workers.
It was also during this project that Bullard expanded into the production of an “original supplied air respirator for workers responsible for blasting the steelwork prior to the application of the bridge’s international orange paint.”
Also developed in the 1930’s was the first Bullard fire helmet, which was upgraded in 1947 when they developed the first fiberglass fire helmet.
Bullard once again became the industry’s leader in fire protection when they developed the first NFPA-approved thermoplastic fire helmet in 1983 and a new helmet that incorporated a non-slip ratchet suspension with a knob in the back for simple sizing.
“We are known for our hats of course, but respirators are also a large part of our manufacturing,” said Bullard.
With demand rising and shipping becoming an issue for the California business, Bullard moved its manufacturing plant to Cynthiana in 1972.

“A sewing factory had just closed on White Oak Pike so we had found space,” said Bullard. “We were just about ready to travel back home after visiting potential sites when Tracy Farmer showed the area to representatives and it was a no-brainer.”
Bullard said with a skilled workforce recently out of work, Bullard did not have to look far for willing bodies to carry-on the precise manufacturing of their products.
“In 1991, Bullard headquarters also relocated from Sausalito to Cynthiana,” said Bullard. “We renamed the road after our mission to our buyers, Safety Way.”
Bullard said since coming to Cynthiana, the success of Bullard has continued to grow and improve due to the never changing family-oriented work place.
“We like to say that we all bleed green here,” said marketing communications manager Deborah Puracchio. “One of the reasons we continue to grow is that we try and take care of our workers and community. They are the ones who make the magic happen.”
Bullard said in 1998, the company once again made a contribution to the safety world with the design of its first-ever thermal imager, once again establishing Bullard as the leader in safety equipment.

“During our 40th anniversary, we presented the Harrison County Volunteer Fire Department and the Cynthiana Fire Department with thermal imagers as a token of appreciation for their continued hard work,” said Bullard. “The fire fighters here help us by testing new products and giving us feedback so it was the least we could do for all they do.”
Bullard said thermal imagers have been used to save many lives during critical situations when seconds mean everything.
When asked how Bullard has remained a family-owned business despite many opportunities to develop into a corporate ran business, Bullard simply smiled.
“That is what makes us special,” explained Bullard. “Having the family oriented way of thinking keeps our products above standards and our employees happier. That is what it is all about” praised Cynthiana for its continued support to Bullard.
“We love it here and there is no need to go anywhere,” said Bullard. “The resources that brought us to Cynthiana 40 years ago are what will keep us here 40 years from now.”

Don't fall victim to holiday scammers

'Tis the season.
Yes siree. Gifting. Baking.
Decorating. Sharing.
Scamming.
Huh?
That's right. It's one of the busiest times of the year for cheating thy neighbor.

Becky Barnes
Editor

Well, maybe not neighbor precisely, but certainly cheating others.
We are supposed to be living a Hallmark movie at this time of year. You know, no stress, perfect children, plenty of money for gift-buying; that's the Hallmark life. Right?
Then why is the Better Business Bureau warning about scams and bogus bargains?
The lowest of the low are the ones that are sucking children into websites that may have content not suitable for children. The websites appear harmless.
There may be a jolly-faced Santa asking you to log-on to get a letter from Santa.
Some of these Santa sites are legitimate.
However, the BBB cautions that giving out personal information is never a good idea.
Make sure it's safe for your children before they get an eye-full.
Check the links on the site, the privacy policy and keep your personal information to yourself.

Why would Santa need your address anyway?
Gift cards have grown in popularity over recent years.
Unfortunately, they have also caught the eyes of crooks.
The BBB released information
this week about fake gift cards being purchased online.

Be wary of buying gift cards from third parties. Someone may have purchased the fake cards and then are trying to pass them off to unsuspecting shoppers as the real deal.
Buy from sources you know and trust.
The BBB also cautions that even if you buy cards from stores, be sure the card hasn't been tampered with and read the fine print.

There's nothing worse than having a line behind you at the check-out and finding out that your gift card is empty while your cart is full.
An email that I receive often is one that states that my UPS or FedEx package has been shipped, then it asks that I click on a link to find out what I need to do to get my package.
These phishing emails could end up infecting your computer with a virus. They are popular this time of year because so many people are expecting packages it's easy to get pulled into the scam.

Do not click on links or download forms from any shipping company.
I've never used Skype and really don't know much about it other than that some families get to use it to get some face time with their overseas soldiers.
Publisher George Jacobs gets to "chat" with his 9-month-old grandtwins in Atlanta from time to time.
And, of course, someone has found a way to make bogus offers and infect computers.
The BBB cautions to be aware of the messages that get clicked on. A new message scam is out there that attempts to hold files for ransom. Delete the message immediately and do not open it.
The same with e-cards. Do not open holiday greetings unless they are from a trusted source.
That pretty much is the commonsense approach to anything with computers and the internet.
If you don't recognize the source or if it doesn't pass the smell test, trash it!
Oh, and have a Merry Christmas.

Mailbag

Public buildings
should be smoke free

To the editor:
I recently stopped by the Harrison County Water Association to take care of some business that could not be accomplished by phone or mail. When I entered the building I was dismayed to be met with the strong smell and taste of tobacco smoke. The building literally reeked of it. I was there less than 5 minutes but that was long enough to get a headache. With what we know about the health risks associated with smoking and breathing second hand smoke, I am appalled that a public service facility like this has such total disregard (and disrespect) for it's patrons, some of whom I am sure are accompanied by small children.
It's not like we have the option of going someplace else to do our water business.

John Cook
Cynthiana

Proud of the coal contributions

To the editor:
On Nov. 30, 2012, an article appeared in our newspaper (The Harlan Daily Enterprise) and immediately caught my eye. It was written by Mike Aldridge, whom I suppose is from the Cynthiana, Ky. area. He had traveled with a friend and some referee's to a football game between Cooper High School and Harlan County High School, which was the Class 5A playoffs. He was impressed with the football stadium, which is called The Coal Miner's Stadium. When the announcer asked,
"Who turned on the lights at the Stadium?" The crowd's response was COAL, followed by the announcer saying Harlan County Coal.
Yes, down here in Southeast Kentucky we have been called barefooted hillbillies, dumb hillbillies and that's just a few names. But, you won't go anywhere and be treated any better than by the people here in Harlan County. We are definitively very proud of the Harlan County High School and especially the Coal Miner's Stadium. I am looking forward to my grandchildren going there. I have heard that when the Stadium gets finished, there will be a concession stand, bathrooms and dressing area on the visitors side. This will be a blessing and thanks to all involved to help get things going.

My family is a coal mining family, father-in-law was a Federal Mine Inspector, my husband worked 30 years underground, one son laid-off and our oldest which is a left leg amputee due to a mining accident (18 years ago) still works underground. So, yes we are very proud of our coal miners and pray for their safety each day. Mr.
Mike Aldridge, thanks for your comment and it reaching down here to us. Many thanks to you, your friends, referee's, football players, cheerleaders, band and especially the fans that traveled that long trip. My son had friends visiting from Indiana. Maybe one of these days we will get to Cooper High School and win.
Just remember, when you turn on the lights, remember Harlan County and what powers the electric company COAL.

Humane Society
needs donations

To the editor:
I am writing to request that your readers remember the Humane Society of Harrison County in their end of the year giving. It is particularly important as 2012 draws to a close because we have been informed that due to budget cuts we will not be receiving the generous American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals grant that we were given in 2011. With the help of that grant the Humane Society of Harrison County was able to pay for or sponsor almost 400 spaying and neuters in 2012.
In 2011 over 800 dogs and cats were euthanized at Flora Shropshire Animal Shelter. From January through November, 2012 the euthamasis count was 672.
Through the joint efforts of the animal control officers increased adoptions, Helping Hounds Find Homes and Pennies for Pooches Coins for cats increased numbers of dogs and cats sent to rescue and the Humane Society's spay/neuter programs we are making a dent in Harrison County's wretched and shameful pet over population crisis. I feel certain that the number of dogs and cats euthanized at Flora Shropshire will increase in 2013 if the number of free spays and neuters the Humane Society of Harrison County pays for drops from 30 to 24 per month due to the loss of ASPCA funding. The root of the euthanasia problem is the birth of unwanted and homeless puppies and kittens.

The Humane Society of Harrison County is a 501

How should Christians vote?

To the editor:
No Christian should have voted for Obama. All Christians should believe and follow the teaching of the Holy Bible as handed down to us via more than 5000 manuscripts and manuscript fragments and presented in English in the Authorized King James Version.
Had all professing Christians acted upon what they profess to believe when they claim to be a Christian, then President Obama would not be looking forward to his second term. Without a doubt the Scripture teaches that murder is wrong and that marriage is to be one man and one woman joined together for a lifetime.
Now we have to look forward to the continuation of the promotion of abortion and the likelihood of the legalization of same sex marriage and forced euthanasia.
Shame on us!!!
Worse yet, we have to look forward to the judgment of God for having failed to practice what is implied when we accept the title of Christian. Jesus Christ himself said, as recorded in John 10:35, "the scripture cannot be broken." When its commandments are ignored and repentance is not forthcoming, then its pronounced judgments are sure to follow. Look out America!

Navistar staying through July 2015, says EDA executive director

By BECKY BARNES, Editor

While early reports were shaky for the future of E-Z Pack in Cynthiana, it's now confirmed that the new owners will remain in Cynthiana through July 2015.

Darlene Bussell, Cynthiana-Harrison County Economic Development Authority executive director, told Cynthiana commissioners Tuesday that Navistar recently confirmed its intent to remain through the end of the 2015 lease.

Bussell said work now needs to be done to help grow the business and not just retain it.

Bussell added that other economic futures are looking brighter as well.

She said an existing business, whose parent company is located in Manchester, Ohio, is looking to expand its Harrison County operation.

Also, a New York company wants to locate in Kentucky and has made a site visit to Cynthiana and is in negotiations with the owner of an existing building.

The company would add 25 jobs to Harrison County's workforce.

Bussell said there is also a committee laying the groundwork for a Walking Dead Festival in September 2013.

The Walking Dead is a television series that started as a comic book by its creators from Cynthiana, Tony Moore and Robert Kirkman.

Mayor Steve Moses said the opening scene of the comic is at Harrison Memorial Hospital.

Bussell said she is looking for about 100 volunteers to help with all aspects of the festival, which is expected to draw about 20,000 people from throughout the United States.

A committee of about 12 volunteers has been established to plan the festival.

In other business, the commission:

- Accepted retirement letters from Virgie Burns, city clerk's office, and Kathleen Jackson, 911 telecommunicator.

- Agreed to advertise for the positions vacated with the retirements.

- Approved a $1,300 invoice for Planning and Zoning mapping project. This would bring the city's contribution to $3,800.

- Declared 1,000 square feet of new maple flooring as surplus and agreed to advertise for bids.

Commissioner Billy Grayson said he miscalculated the amount needed for the new City Hall gym floor.

- Voted to deny a $900 funding request for GED testing. Moses said he would be inclined to donate independently but did not believe the city's money should be used.

Commissioner Roger Slade agreed, adding that the city had cut other service requests and that it should not pick up new ones.

- Accepted the resignation of firefighter Jack True and agreed to advertise for the position.

- Noted that two police officer recruits, Billy Shaun Rains and John Christopher Bright, are at the academy for 18 weeks of training.

- New officer Dottie Batte will be graduating from the academy on Dec. 21 and will be riding with training officers for about a six-month period.

- Discussed repairs to one of the city's fire trucks. Commissioner Gary Bruner said the cost of repairs will be about $3,000 to $4,000. He noted that commissioners need to be thinking about the purchase of a new truck in the next budgeting process.

Bruner said the most feasible way to make a $250,000 to $500,000 purchase will be through a bond issue.

- Heard Slade report that the city has 70 tons of salt ready for the first snowfall. He said less than half that amount was used in all of last winter.

- Agreed to begin work with HDR Engineers on repairs to the surface wash system at the city's water treatment plant.

Commissioner Jack Keith said the work was anticipated and was included in the budget.

- Heard the mayor report that Time Warner Cable rates are changing.

Bruner added that a letter sent to customers indicates that an upgrade had been done in Cynthiana. However, he said he had been talking with representatives and some of the services listed in the letter are not available in Cynthiana.

Police officer recruit John Bright was sworn in at a recent Cynthiana City Commission meeting.

Police officer recruit Shaun Rains was sworn in at a recent Cynthiana City Commission meeting. The two recruits are attending the EKU academy for 18 weeks of training.

Former Harrison County educator named Teacher of the Year as college professor Jennifer Hatfield, Ph.D., engages Union College students in and out of the classroom.

Jennifer Hatfield, Ph.D., who began her teaching career in 2003 at Harrison County High School, was recently named Health Educator-College/University Teacher of the Year for going above and beyond her regular classroom duties. Hatfield is now assistant professor of wellness at Union College. The award, presented by the Kentucky Association of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, is given to a current professor and association member who teaches health classes in a university or college setting. According to Hatfield, the nominations are submitted secretly, and then, once nominated, the professor is given an application to complete. This application is forwarded to a selection committee that chooses the winner. Hatfield was recognized not only for her passion for teaching, but also for demonstrating an extraordinary level of dedication beyond the classroom. As supporting evidence, KAHPERD cited an email from a Union College student, who credits Hatfield with helping save the life of a family member. "A few semesters ago, I took a First Aid/CPR class with Dr. Hatfield," the email read. This student appreciated Hatfield's enthusiasm in teaching the course but never expected that the information learned there would ever be put to use. "But in December, while home on Christmas break, my grandpa decided to have multiple aneurisms and a stroke. If it wasn't for Dr. Hatfield (going beyond) what was required for us to know, my grandfather would not be here with us today." Hatfield said that her passion to teach others about health and wellness is what drives her in the classroom, and she is truly grateful and honored to be recognized. "I am very passionate about educating others about their health and the health of others," Hatfield said. "Life is all about choices, and I hope to influence and educate others to make the best decisions possible. We only live once in life. Why not be healthy and have fun at the same time?" Hatfield was presented with the award at the annual KAHPERD conference, which was held in Louisville, Ky., from Nov. 11-13. Raised in Rose Hill, Va., Hatfield is a 1997 graduate of Thomas Walker High School. Union College is a private liberal arts college related to The United Methodist Church and located in Barboursville, Ky.

HCHS Students of the Month. The Harrison County High School Students of the Month for December were: Devyn Prater, senior, left, and Nathan McCall. Prater is the daughter of Lena and Greg Prater. McCall is the son of Jamie and Tammy McCall. December's sponsor was Dr. Don Stephens.

HCHS DECORATIONS. The Student Council and class officers of Harrison County High School decked the halls with a hallway decorating contest during the first few weeks of December. The winner with the best hallway would accumulate points for the infamous spirit stick which will be awarded at the next school-wide pep rally in January. Every afternoon after school students stayed to decorate their hallways. The freshman class called upon classic Christmas characters to deck their doors, complete with a nativity scene on their bulletin board. The sophomore hallway went crazy with kooky Christmas lights. The juniors gave twelve days of Christmas by artfully incorporating the hall and doorways in their display. The seniors dreamed of a White Christmas with their decorations including a "Seasons Greetings" sign in the front foyer. Snowdrifts down the hallways and snowflakes falling from the ceiling made the front Senior hallway. As the competition came to a close and with careful consideration from the judges, Brad Allison, David Case and JennyLynn Hatter, the Junior class was crowned the winner with the most Christmas spirit on the Hilltop.

WISHING YOU A WHITE CHRISTMAS

With wishes warm and bright to all of our friends this holiday season. We appreciate your trust in us and look forward to seeing you again, soon.

Techau-Duszynski exchange vows

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Techau of Cynthiana announce the marriage of their daughter, Kensi Elizabeth, to Evan James Duszynski, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Duszynski, also of Cynthiana. The wedding was held on June 30, 2012 at the First Church of God in Lexington, Ky. Pastor Tim Gould of Houston, Texas, friend and former pastor of the bride, officiated the ceremony.

Taylor Techau, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ashlyn and Lahni Techau, sisters of the bride, Emily Khoupongsy, sister of the groom, and Lindsay Keyser, Maddi Ury and Emily Andrews, college roommates of the bride.

Jacob Clevinger, friend of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Andrew Case of Cynthiana, and Philip Mullins, James Torell and Jonathan Rehner, college friends of the groom.

Maddox, Harper, and Henry Crouch, cousins of the bride, served as the flower girls and ring bearer, respectively. Debbie Lutes, grandmother of the bride, made the flower basket and ring pillow from an ivory lace dress that the bride wore as a little girl.

Emmalee and Zachary Lutes, cousins of the bride, attended the guest-book and greeted guests. Cousins of the groom, Will Thomas, Jon Keith, James Fletcher, and Charles Andrew Collins, ushered guests to their seats. Tina Miller, friend of the bride's family, helped coordinate the ceremony.

Processional music was composed by the bride and performed by her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ely Cartwright of Wilmore, Ky. As the bride made her way down the aisle, escorted by her father, she wore a strapless, ivory satin gown with a lace overlay, featuring a sweetheart bodice with side-drape and ruching. The bride carried a hand tied bouquet of roses, lilies, alstroemeria, Queen Anne's lace, hypericum berries and seeded eucalyptus. The stems were wrapped with ivory lace, adorned with a cameo brooch that belonged to her late grandmother, Sanna Techau. After being given in marriage by her parents, the bride and groom exchanged vows they had written for one another.

The couple chose a vintage theme for the reception, which was held at the Prizing House in Cynthiana. Centerpieces included fresh flowers arranged in vintage stemware, aged books, and crocheted doilies and teacups, many which belonged to the bride's grandmothers and late great-grandmothers. As the couple left the reception, they were showered with confetti made from vintage book pages and sheet music.

The couple honeymooned in Banff National Park in Alberta, Canada.

The groom teaches high school biology at Paris High School. The bride is working part time while working on her Masters in Marriage and Family Therapy at Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky., where the couple resides.

Great gift ideas for kids to give (StatePoint) Between family, friends, coaches and teachers, some children give as many holiday presents as they receive. Helping your child pick out great gifts can be tricky and often times, impersonal. This year, encourage your child's creativity with easy kids' crafts they'll give as gifts. Do-it-yourself handmade gifts are a growing trend, thanks to the popularity of sites like Etsy and Pinterest.

Here are a few suggestions for thoughtful gifts kids can give this holiday:

Scrapbook: Scrapbooks are a great way for children to show their appreciation for friends and siblings. They can create an interactive stroll down memory lane with pictures, cards and other mementos.

Art and Photo Projects: Immortalizing your child's artwork or an adorable photograph is a perfect keepsake from your child. For example, MakIt will embed your drawing or photo into everyday items such as plates and travel tumblers you can enjoy daily. The products are nontoxic, BPA-free and made in the USA. Dishwasher-safe, they are also break-resistant.

Themed Gift Baskets: Choose a theme to reflect the personality of the recipient. If the basket is for a teacher, an educational theme would be great. If your child and grandparent love to play catch together, a sports-themed basket. Use your imagination when it comes to the theme and always make sure the basket is overflowing.

The gift of wanting

I like to tell people that every obsession I have is my youngest daughter's fault. She got me hooked on jewelry, shoes, pedicures, purses, expensive cosmetics — I blame her, only because the alternative is to blame myself.

But the truth is, I was born a wanter. I want this and I want that and I want more.

In an old Seinfeld episode Kramer asks George, "Do you ever yearn?"

George tells him, "Well, not recently. I craved. I crave all the time, constant craving. But I haven't yearned."

Do you yearn?

This time of year there's a lot of wanting and craving and yearning going on. Everybody's asking, "What do you want for Christmas?"

When it comes to gifts, in my family and circle of friends I have become the person impossible to buy for. If you ask me what I want I will tell you I want nothing. I have everything I want.

Except.

Except if I see something shiny and blingy and sparkly I may want it. Oh, and I want a lightweight navy blue cardigan sweater with three-quarter-length sleeves.

And then there's that thing that has no name. That thing we're all born wanting whether we realize it or not. That thing that would make us whole and complete, if only we could find it.

I'm writing this the day after going to the mall. That's one of my favorite holiday activities — going to the mall and sitting on a bench watching people shop, observing a thousand people with a thousand wants.

I've given this some thought and I've concluded that this thing, this wanting and yearning for that one thing that would bring ultimate satisfaction and end the desire for more is something that's actually quite good.

I'm not talking about lusting and coveting and wanting another pair of black shoes, but of something else, something deeper; something that's fundamental and basic, primal.

The Bible talks about all of creation groaning as it waits in anticipation of something greater and grander and more.

In the centuries of silence between the Old and New Testaments, the people of Israel groaned as they waited and wanted and yearned for the One who was promised to come and save them.

At Christmastime, during Advent, we sing, "O come, O come Emmanuel and ransom captive Israel" and "Come thou long expected Jesus, born to set Thy people free."

Jesus himself said he came so his followers "may have and enjoy life, and have it in abundance [to the full, till it overflows]" (John 10:10, Amplified Bible).

And yet, even though Jesus came to ransom captive Israel and set his people free, those very people — me and you — still want and yearn for more.

If Jesus has come, why do we still want?

Even we who have everything we want or have the ability to get, why do we still long for more, for something else?

A Bible teacher friend of mine once told me that the longing and yearning we feel comes from God.

He pointed to King Solomon who wrote that "God has planted eternity in men's hearts and minds [a divinely implanted sense of a purpose working through the ages which nothing under the sun but God alone can satisfy]" (Ecclesiastes 3:11, Amplified Bible).

Live or live cut for the holidays?

Picking out the perfect Christmas tree was something that I used to take very serious: all the cleaning and moving of furniture and packing of boxes and light-stringing and unstringing required a tree worth the effort.

I have scaled back in recent years but still see the fun in finding a tree that fits your space and holds precious ornaments with style.

So, which type of tree reflects your holiday?

Do you get a fresh cut, artificial, balled and burlapped? Or do you just go out-of-town and let someone else do the decorating?

All are certainly acceptable, but there are different rules that apply to each.

Obviously the artificial ilk has few restrictions but there are some things to remember if you get a fresh cut or balled burlapped tree for planting after the holidays.

When choosing a fresh-cut tree use your sense of smell and touch: fresh trees will be more fragrant and the needles will be flexible yet firm.

Certainly take into account the type of tree because the needles of a white pine will be softer than that of a Fraser fir.

Also check the freshness by bouncing the butt of the trunk on the ground a couple of times to see how many needles actually fall from the tree. A few green and brown needles are normal.

If you are not quite ready to bring the tree in once you have purchased it, then just get it in water and store it outside in the shade.

Jeneen Wiche
Columnist
www.SwallowRailFarm.com

The sooner you can get the trunk recut and in water the better ... and in order to get your tree to drink, you must have the stump end recut.

The original cut sealed over long ago so no water will be absorbed unless a fresh cut is made.

Get the folks at the garden center to recut the end just before you leave and pop it into a pale of water as soon as you get home.

Ideally, our trees will drink about a quart of water a day when fresh.

The majority of fresh-cut trees that are purchased in Kentuckiana come from tree farms out of North Carolina and these growers are anticipating a bumper crop out of the state for 2012 so we should see some quality trees at our local garden centers.

Local u-cut operations are an option for live-cut trees, too. Check with your County Extension for local growers.

Live-cut trees are a renewable resource and one that you can reuse and recycle in the garden once you are finished.

If you have beds of iris or daylilies, for example, cut the branches from the used tree and place them over the crowns of the plants to prevent them from heaving out of the ground due to freezing and thawing.

Remove the branches in early spring before new growth begins.

Purchasing a balled and burlapped tree for the holidays is a popular tradition for many families, but it takes some special care.

A live evergreen is not well-suited to the indoor environment during the holidays.

Our homes are typically dry and warm and if a live evergreen (intended to live outside) is in this environment too long it will break dormancy; the tree should stay in the house for about one week, tops. Keep your house as cool as you can and make sure that the root ball stays moist.

The logistics of having a live b-and-b tree can be tricky. Root balls can easily weigh 75 to 100 lbs. so moving the tree in and out of the house is no easy task.

Keep the size as small as possible, preferably no taller than 6 feet. A smaller tree can be moved around more easily without damaging the root ball; we want to make sure that the root ball remains intact and doesn't loosen or crumble under the weight of the tree.

Since planting will take place shortly after Christmas, be prepared for the weather: at this rate the ground likely will not be freezing but it could be soggy wet which could cause problems digging. Consider digging your hole now and cover it with plastic so it is ready to go and you can get the tree in the ground right after Christmas.

Craft ideas to transform your home for the holidays

(StatePoint) This year, forego those store-bought plastic reindeer and craft your own holiday décor instead.

Personalization adds a unique and elegant touch to your home. And with a little ingenuity, even items you'd normally throw away like candy wrappers and old magazines can be transformed into spectacular vases, holiday gifts and jewelry.

"Grab a sheet of paper and hold it in your hands. Think of all the things you can do with it: Crumple it, fold it, rip it, paint it, weave it, stitch it, tear paper into strips to make papier-mâché or cut it into intricate designs. Each sheet of paper contains endless possibilities," says Kayte Terry, visual merchandising manager for Anthropologie stores and author of "Paper Made," a new crafting book.

Here's a project you can try at home, that just takes 10 steps. Terry is offering directions for a "Ring Around the Rosey Vase," so you can plant your Holly this year in a vase made by you:

- Use a craft knife, ruler, and cutting mat to cut magazine pages into 600 1/4 inch strips.
- Use cylindrical objects of different sizes as rolling instruments. Roll the strips around the object once, then brush glue on the next section of the strip and roll again. Dab glue at the end of the strip to seal the coil.

• Brush each roll with decoupage medium and set aside to dry.

• Trace the bottom of the jar onto the cardboard with pencil. Add 1 inch to the diameter, and use a craft knife to cut it out. Cut a magazine page in a circle 2 inches larger in diameter than the base.

• Brush one side of the cardboard circle with white glue and center and press it facedown onto the magazine circle. Use the craft knife to cut slits 1 inch apart from the edge of the magazine circle to the edge of the cardboard circle.

• Brush edges of the magazine circle with glue and wrap each 1 inch tab around the edge of the cardboard circle.

• Brush glue along the outer edge of the circle and attach a row of paper coils around the base. Vary the size of the coils, making sure that each coil's edges of touch the next.

• Continue gluing the paper coils, stacking them in uneven rows. Every three rows, brush the inside and outside of the vase with decoupage medium and let

dry. Leave more space between the coils as the rows stack higher.

• Check the height of the vase by placing the jar inside it. Add paper coils until they rise about 1" above the glass jar.

• Remove the jar. Brush the inside and outside of the vase with decoupage medium and let dry completely before replacing the jar.

You don't need to spend a fortune on crafting supplies. By rescuing materials from your recycling bin, you can transform your home for the holidays with unique colorful objects.

Natural gas price to increase this winter

Columbia Gas of Kentucky has received approval from the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) for its most recent Gas Cost Adjustment (GCA).

Effective Nov. 28, Columbia Gas of Kentucky's gas supply cost will be $4.2366 per Mcf (1,000 cubic feet). The new gas supply cost, which will remain in effect until the next scheduled Gas Cost Adjustment in March 2013, is 22 percent lower than the same period last year.

Columbia Gas of Kentucky typically adjusts its prices quarterly to reflect current market conditions. Natural gas distribution companies do not earn a profit on their gas commodity costs and Columbia Gas of Kentucky passes the cost along to customers without markup.

A customer's monthly bill is comprised of two primary components: the gas supply cost and delivery costs. The delivery charges cover the cost of delivering the gas to the customer's home or business through the company's pipeline infrastructure, as well as line inspection, repair, 24-hour emergency service, etc.

Despite moderate commodity costs this winter, Columbia still encourages customers to enroll in the Budget Payment Plan.

Columbia Gas of Kentucky also offers a series of residential energy efficiency programs, called WarmWise, to help customers save energy.

Columbia Gas is partnering with Community Action Council and its weatherization program for its WarmWise furnace replacement program.

To determine if they are eligible for a free furnace replacement and to register for the weatherization program, customers should call Community Action Council at 800-244-2275.

To request a free WarmWise home energy checkup, customers should call 800-300-8709 or complete the online request form at www.columbiagasky.com/checkup. Efficiency requirements and other details about the appliance rebate program are also available at the company's website.

Kentucky poet, playwright addresses LVC students

The Library and English Department on the Licking Valley Campus of Maysville Community and Technical College

hosted Frank X Walker on Monday, Nov. 26

This was Walker's fourth visit to the campus and he was welcomed with an audience of over 60 people.

Walker answered questions from the attendees and read poetry and an excerpt from his novel.

Walker, poet, playwright, editor and educator hails from Danville, where he attended Danville High School.

He was an outstanding athlete and English student. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and completed his MFA in writing at Spalding University.

He is a co-founder of the Affrilachian Poets and the originator of the term, Affrilachia – which embraces the inclusion of black voice into the beautiful creative work from the Appalachian region of Eastern United States.

Selections of texts from Walker's work are currently used for English and reading classes at the Licking Valley Campus.

Throughout the semester, students were encouraged to write down questions to ask Walker during his visit.

One of the texts used in class is Isaac Murphy: I Dedicate This Ride.

This book of poetry was Walker's skillful and captivating endeavor to bring a biographical voice to Isaac Murphy; the most successful African American thoroughbred jockey of all time, whose contribution had long been overlooked.

Walker discussed many topics of his writing career including writer's block.

Walker said, "If you are alive, and you're a writer then you're involved in the writing process and I can prove it, because you can dream about stuff and wake up and write that down. So, even though you were asleep, you were involved in the writing process. Anything you do passively, supposedly passively, can just be training."

Assistant professor, Donna Slone-Crumbie presented Walker a portrait of Isaac Murphy drawn by her student, Amy Harwood.

Walker is currently working on his first novel. In the spring of next year, he hopes to have this novel ready to send out to be published. His next historical poetry book is expected in May of 2013, and is about Medgar Evers, an African American Civil Rights activist who was the first person killed in the Civil Rights Movement.

Mr. Walker said, "Kentucky is famous for bourbon, horses, and tobacco but outside, Kentucky is famous for its writers and for a long time all those writers were from Appalachia."

For more information, feel free to call the Hilltop at 859-234-8626 extension 66400.

Breds rip Cougars, 84-35, Tuesday night in Covington

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Harrison County Thorobreds improved to 4-1 on the season as they roared past a short-handed Calvary Christian Cougar squad, 84-35, in Covington Tuesday.

Calvary Christian was playing without two starters who were suspended for reasons not disclosed following Monday night's first win of the season over Silver Grove.

The loss left the Cougars with a 1-5 record for the season.

The Breds were never threatened in this contest as they rushed out to a 20-6 first quarter lead though they did not use their full court press, which has been a big factor in the other victories.

The Thorobreds used their superior size and quickness to force 10 turnovers in the first quarter as they established the tempo of the game.

Coach Larry Kendall substituted liberally throughout the game as all of his players who were dressed had a chance to show what they could do.

"I wanted to try several combinations tonight after we established a good lead," Kendall commented. "We got out on them early which allowed us to work on some things that we haven't used in games yet."

The second quarter saw the Breds out-score the Cougars by 11 and stretch the half time lead to 25 points.

The third quarter saw an even bigger lead as Calvary Christian scored only two points in the period to 25 for Harrison County.

The new running clock rule took effect in the third period with about three minutes to play and ran through the last stanza.

The game mercifully ended with the Breds up by the final 84-35 margin.

Nick Whitt, a senior, led the Cougars and all scorers with 21 points and five rebounds. He was the only Cougar in double figures.

Junior Dillon Pulliam scored 18 to lead the Thorobreds followed by Scott Kendall with 15.

Tyler Wagner grabbed eight of the team total 36 rebounds to lead in that category.

Senior Jordan Martin had an all around game with nine points, a team leading four assists and four rebounds.

The Harrison County junior varsity, led by Mason Ritchie's 14 points, defeated the Calvary Christian junior varsity 72-21.

The Breds will next play Friday night as they host the senior-laden Covington Holy Cross Indians. Holy Cross features 6-foot-9 Antonio Campbell who has signed with Ohio University and the very talented guard Christian McClendon as their team leaders.

Fillies drop Monday night visit to Brossart, 63-30

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Bishop Brossart Lady Mustangs spotted the Harrison County Fillies an early 5-2 lead before scoring 17 of the next 20 points to run past the visiting Fillies, 63-30, Monday night in Alexandria.

Bishop Brossart (5-1) returned all starters from last year's region team and they never let up as they ran to a 39-14 score at the half.

The Lady Mustangs defense pressure forced the out-manned Fillies to 18 first-half turnovers, 30 for the game, while only committing six miscues all night.

The youthful Fillies back court of sophomores Kassidy Cook and Chelsea Ingram just could not handle the constant defense put on by the whole Brossart team.

"Bishop Brossart defense is just stifling," said Coach Kim Furnish. "I told the girls that we want to learn to play defense like they do."

Bishop Brossart was playing without starting point guard, senior Rachel Hartig, but hardly seemed to miss her.

Her replacements, junior Morgan Verst, and junior Madison Eisenman, scored 19 points between them for the game and set up numerous fast break baskets for others.

The leading scorer for the home team was junior center Sarah Futscher who scored 13 points.

Junior center Jordan Doram again led the Fillies in scoring and rebounding with 18 points and 16 rebounds.

Harrison County played without starting forward Whitney Gray who was out with a knee injury.

There were some bright spots for the Fillies as they made five of seven free throw attempts and rebounded with the taller, more experienced Bishop Brossart team only losing the battle by two rebounds for the night.

Kassidy Cook returned from a three-game absence to spark the Fillies with her quick feet and hands.

Cook had been sidelined by a concussion in the season opener with Calvary Christian.

Furnish also saw some bright spots.

"Elizabeth Boyers again came in off the bench and gave us some quality minutes," she noted. "If we can all keep trying to do what the coaches ask we can keep improving."

The Fillies next game is Saturday night at home against Dixie Heights (1-6) who defeated the Fillies 51-44 in northern Kentucky last season.

The Harrison County junior varsity lost Monday night by a 47-33 score. Madison Philpott led the junior varsity squad in scoring with eight points.

Thorobreds roll past Bluejackets, 71-48

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The second half of the girl/boy doubleheader Friday night was a rough and tumble affair as it seems something about the Thorobreds makes others want to foul them.

The game was closer than it might have been though as the Breds for the first time this year struggled from the line making only 15 of the 35 attempts that they were awarded.

The pace of the game and the emotion of playing a district rival were part of the problem in the mind of Coach Larry Kendall.

"We were playing hard up and down the floor and with a district rival sometimes a player loses focus on foul shooting," he explained. "We will work in practice on our free throws as this performance won't get the job done."

Nicholas County was a little better from the line making 12 of 22 but still just barely over half.

The game was tight in the first half as the Breds could not shake the tenacious Bluejackets and the constant fouling made it hard to get into the flow of the offense.

Harrison County led by three at the end of the first quarter and only by 10 at the half.

Harrison County came out after the half time intermission and shot and handled the ball better pulling out to a 20-point advantage by the end of the third stanza.

Kendall used his entire bench in the fourth period and actually during the biggest part of the game.

The balanced scoring was evidence of the rotation as senior guard Scott Kendall was the only Thorobred in double figures with 15 points. Sophomore D.J. Hicks was next with 9 followed by five players with 7 points each.

Hicks was perfect from the field making all four of his attempts, one a three pointer. Grant Carr was one player that Kendall praised for his defensive play as well as his performance on the offensive side of the court. He, too, was perfect from the field but missed a couple of free throws.

Nicholas County was led in scoring by sophomore Landon Sexton with 14 points with senior Zack Howard with 10 being the other Nicholas County player in double figures.

Harrison County improved to 3-1 on the season while Nicholas County fell to an even record of 2-2.

MIKE'S MINUTE

The spirit of the season

The Christmas Season is fast approaching and in basketball that means holiday tournaments.

Both the Fillies and Thorobreds are participating and, of course, they are playing at the same time in places far from each other.

This fact makes it very difficult to cover for both WCYN and the Cynthiana Democrat but fortunately the coaches give us a lot of help with facts and figures.

It is our intention to cover all sports as fairly as we can but when there is one of us it sometimes becomes a challenge.

But in the Spirit of Christmas I will not complain about the challenges ahead only inform you the reader of the myriad of games coming up.

The Fillies play on Dec. 21 and 22 in Pendleton County in a two-day tournament where the opponents will be Covington Latin on Friday night and Grant County and Pendleton County on Saturday.

This is a varsity/junior varsity tournament so the Fillies will get a lot of playing time here.

The same two days the Thorobreds will travel to Covington Holmes and play in the 2012 Stop-DWI Holiday

Mike Aldridge
Sports Writer

Classic.

Holmes' head coach Jason Booher is originally from Radcliff and was affected greatly by the Carrollton bus crash years ago.

Part of the program for all of the players on all four teams participating is a 35-40 minutes session on the evils of drinking and driving.

The schedule for this tournament is on Friday, Dec. 21, at 6:30 p.m., Scott High will play Russell of the 16th Region and at 8 p.m., the Breds will play the host Holmes Bulldogs.

One other note of interest is that former Harrison County coach Mike Listerman is an assistant with Holmes.

Saturday at 6 p.m. will be the third place game and the championship will be at 7:30 p.m.

After Christmas both teams again play in tournaments beginning on Thursday, Dec.

Wrestling Thorobreds second in five-team Montgomery Duals

Coach Luke Tucker summed up the day when he said, “The team did better than expected with all the injuries and sickness.”

This was after a depleted Harrison County squad led by youngsters Michael Maddox and Colin Coy had worked their way to a second place finish in Mt. Sterling Saturday. Five starters were missing from the Thorobreds’ line up when the day began due to illness or injuries.

The 106 lb Maddox and the 152 lb. Coy each were 4-0 for the day as the Thorobreds defeated all they matched up against except the home-standing Indians and the Bourbon County Colonels. They lost a close match to Montgomery County and tied Bourbon County to finish second.

Four other Thorobreds were 3-1 for the day. Eighth grader 113 lb. Austin Harless, who continues to impress in his first year of varsity wrestling, junior Mason Fryman, and seniors Vince Whitt and Justin Williams all dropped only the single match while winning three.

The bigger wrestlers, 190 lb, Boston Adams, 220 lb. Kellon Williams and 280 lb. Jonathan Pierce each were 2-1 for the day.

The varsity Breds defeated Ashland Paul Blazer and Whitley County and a team made up of extra wrestlers. The junior varsity lost only one match all day as they took the junior varsity competition.

The next match for Harrison County will be in Cincinnati on Saturday as they compete at North College Hills.

Fillies Freshmen, Junior Varsity split with Pendleton County Tuesday

The Harrison County Fillies freshmen and junior varsity basketball squads traveled north to Pendleton County Tuesday night and split a couple of games with the Lady Cats.

The freshmen were defeated by a 55-23 score by the first year Pendleton County girls, but the junior varsity came back in the final game for a 60-23 victory.

Kassidy Cook led the junior varsity with an 18-point performance. She was followed by Chelsea Ingram who had 11 points and Taylor Refett who scored 10 points.

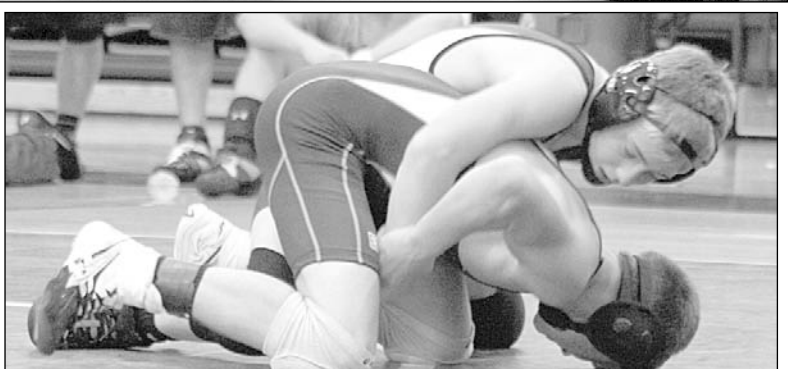

The next outing for the Harrison County girls will be Saturday evening when they host Dixie Heights on the Hilltop.

Freshman Colin Coy, 152 lb. weight class, won his match at the Montgomery County Duels on Saturday, Dec. 8. The win gives Coy a perfect record of 4-0. Harrison County will compete Saturday in Ohio against North College Hill.

Eighth grader Michael Mattox won his match in the 106 lb. weight class against Ashland. Mattox also has a perfect record of 4-0.

27, with the boys’ tournament going through Sunday, Dec. 30, and the girls’ tournament finishing on Saturday, Dec. 29.

The boys will travel to Somerset to play in the Lake Cumberland Holiday Hoops Classic.

Isn’t it nice for a local bank and the Tourism Bureau to work together with the three schools of Pulaski County to put on a sixteen team holiday tournament?

This is the first year of this tournament sponsored largely by the Citizens Bank of Somerset and the Somerset Tourism and Convention Bureau.

The Breds play first on Dec. 27 at Somerset’s gym against Louisville Southern in the 16-team event.

After this, winning and losing decides when and where the teams play.

The seven other teams in Harrison County’s bracket are Louisville Southern, Somerset, Danville, Southwestern Pulaski County, East Jessamine, Mayfield and Louisville Manual.

I’m not sure but that looks like a loaded bracket to me.

We saw Pulaski Southwestern in a scrimmage and they are really good so it looks like the Breds have their work cut out for them.

The other bracket has North Hardin, Louisville Central, Rowan County, Mercer County, Taylor

County, Bell County, Pulaski County and Louisville Waggener.

The Fillies play in a tournament in Bourbon County where they will face Shelby Valley of the 15th Region at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 27, at Bourbon County High School. They will then go on to play on Friday and Saturday at times determined by wins and losses.

The other teams in this classic are the host Lady Colonels, Rowan County, Lexington Catholic, Pleasure Ridge Park, Pendleton County, Middletown, Ohio, Powell County and Nicholas County.

This is another nice group of schools that should make for some good competition.

One other item that brings Christmas cheer to my heart is the hiring of Bobby Petrino at Western Kentucky.

The way Petrino is portrayed by the main stream media you would think that the Hilltoppers’ new boss is a mass murderer.

Granted, he has allegedly been involved in many less than admirable situations, but this is the season of joy and celebration.

Let’s make it one of forgiveness too and give the coach one more chance. After all there was more than one UK fan that would have been willing to bring him to Lexington because “the guy can coach football.”

Fillies' struggles continue in double overtime loss to Nicholas County

Rolled by LCA on Saturday

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Harrison County Fillies continued to struggle as they dropped a tough double overtime game on Friday to Nicholas County and then were beat by Lexington Christian Academy on Saturday night.

The Nicholas County game was the opener of the girl/boy doubleheader with the neighbors to the east on Friday night in Carlisle.

As one might expect for a double overtime game, it was close throughout until the fourth period the Fillies were in the lead and at one point had a 12-point advantage.

The first period started slowly as neither squad could find the range from the field.

The period ended with the Fillies in front by a 10-9 score with Nicholas County scoring four of their points from the foul line.

This was to be the theme of the game as the home standing Lady Jackets went to the line 41 times for the night and made 30 of them to score nearly half of their points from the foul line.

In contrast, the Fillies who were in the lead until early in the fourth period and were being pressed a great deal of the time shot 21 free throws but made only nine of them.

Junior center Jordan Doram made eight of eight for the night but the rest of the squad was only one of 13. The Fillies also out-rebounded Nicholas County by a 40 to 33 margin.

Harrison County shot the ball very well in the second period as they continued to dominate the glass.

In the first half, the Fillies had a 10-rebound advantage and went to the locker room with an eight-point lead, 23-15.

The Fillies continued to build the lead in the early part of the third period and with about three minutes left in that stanza had a 30-18 advantage.

But Doram picked up her fourth personal foul at that point and the rest of the team was unable to counter the Lady Jackets.

By the end of the period, the score was 32-28 still in Harrison County's favor.

Led by sophomore guard Megan Bretz and senior forward Reesa Martin, the Lady Jackets took the lead in the fourth period.

In the second half of the game and the overtimes, Bretz scored all of her team high 18 points as she began to drive the lane with Doram on the bench.

The two girls also went to the foul line 17 times after the first half.

Doram's three-point play tied the game at 37 all and the Fillies went back in front 39-37 on Taylor Reffett's driving basket with a little more than four minutes left in the game.

But with 28 seconds left in regulation, Martin hit two free throws to put the Lady Jackets up by one point as the tension mounted in the new Nicholas County gym.

Harrison County tied the game with five seconds left when freshman Madison Philpott hit one of two free throws and the game went into overtime.

The first overtime saw the Fillies take the lead but the Lady Jackets got three baskets from the Bretz sisters, Megan and senior Shannon, to tie and put the game into the second extra period.

Nicholas County jumped out to a six-point lead in the extra period taking advantage of Harrison County turnovers and then when the Fillies had to foul to try to catch up made 10 of 14 from the foul line to ice the game 68-63.

Doram led the Fillies with a 32 point, 21 rebound night.

Both Reffett and sophomore guard Chelsea Ingram added 10 points and seven rebounds for Harrison County.

Nicholas County had four players in double figures as Megan Bretz had 18, Martin 14, and both seniors Shannon Bretz and Shelby Wade added 12 points.

Wade scored a perfect 10 for 10 from the foul line to go with her one field goal.

The win gave Nicholas County an even 2-2 mark for the year while the Fillies fell to 0-3.

Saturday's game with Lexington Christian was a night to forget for the Harrison County team and coaches.

After leading 9-6 after one period, the Fillies were unable to maintain any ball-handling skills as fatigue took over causing a 31-turnover night and a 57-38 win for the Lady Eagles.

Lexington Christian's top notch junior guard, Katelin Bundy scored 29 points for the game to lead all scorers. Bundy was 12 out of 16 from the floor after the first period as she scored all of her field goals except for one three pointer on break away lay ups as the Fillies could not get back in time on defense to stop her.

Bundy ended the game with a 12-for-23 night as she was zero for seven in the first period.

Sophomore Savannah Compton had 10 points and 18 rebounds and freshman Carah Burdette added 13 points though she was only five for 14 from the foul line.

The Fillies were led by Doram with 21 points though she fouled out with about four minutes to play.

Tired legs led to Harrison County committing 19 fouls that gave the Lady Eagles 29 opportunities from the line where they made only 13.

The loss leaves the Fillies at 0-4 with a Monday night date at one of the region favorite's Bishop Brossart in Alexandria. Lexington Christian evened their season record at 1-1.

The Fillies junior varsity came away with their second win of the season as sophomore Hayley Powers scored nine points to lead them to a 32-15 win.

Coach Kim Furnish was very dejected after the game but remained positive.

"We have to find some girls who can step up when Jordan is in foul trouble or having an off night," she said. "Fatigue got us tonight but we have to fight through that and start taking care of the ball. That is from top to bottom of the roster, we have to start taking care of the ball."
